Vulnerable Tenants Policy

Content:	Vulnerable Tenant Policy
Version:	2
Applies to:	Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation
Date:	Endorsed by board 05/08/2025

Background:

Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation is a Community Housing Provider that specialises in providing social housing for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation aims to support Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to successfully sustain tenancies by linking clients into support services where applicable. Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation aims to educate Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people by providing pathways into improved housing outcomes delivered in a culturally appropriate manner.

Scope:

This policy applies to all tenants who may be vulnerable or at risk of becoming vulnerable. Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation strives to assist and support tenants. Tenants are treated with sensitivity and confidentiality.

Definition:

A vulnerable tenant may be someone whose tenancy is at risk due to a number of factors, which include, but not limited to:

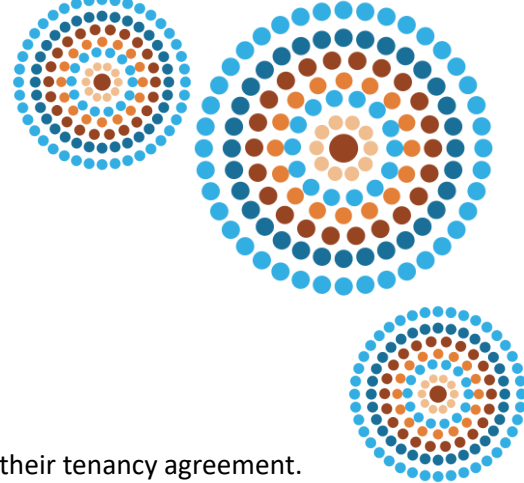

- Arrears
- Debt
- Hoarding and squalor
- Ongoing nuisance and annoyance
- Mental health issues
- Disability
- Domestic or family violence
- Risk of losing children

Tenants experiencing one or more of these factors without receiving immediate and/or regular support may be at risk of losing their tenancy, illness or ongoing issues.

Identify vulnerable tenants:

The following factors should be considered when determining if a tenant is vulnerable or at risk of becoming vulnerable:

- The tenant's inability to pay rent and water charges on time.
- The tenant's inability to maintain their property.

- The tenant's inability to adhere to their obligations as set out in their tenancy agreement.
- The ongoing request for payment extension or payment plans.
- Self-assessment from the tenant and asking for assistance.
- A significant change in circumstance that has impact on the tenant's finances for example: health problems, death in the family, domestic/family violence, loss of employment and emotional well-being.

Responding to vulnerable tenants:

Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation will work and monitor tenants who identify as being vulnerable or who have been identified to the organisation as being vulnerable. Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation will make appropriate referrals to internal and external supports with the consent of the tenant or where permitted by law.

Depending on the crisis the tenant is experiencing and the tenant willingness/capacity to engage, will have an impact on the time frame and response.

Tenants who refuse to engage with support services will continue to be monitored by Tharawal Aboriginal Housing for ongoing risk. Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation will increase engagement with the tenant through meetings, phone calls, home visits and inspections, in accordance with the Residential Tenancies Act 2010. Tharawal Housing Aboriginal Corporation respects a tenant's right to privacy and to decline support, however information will be disclosed to services where permitted by law.
